ROAD SIGNS PLACED ALONG EAST COAST

SIGNS WILL COVER DISTANCE OF QUEBEC-MIAMI HIGHWAY

While not much has been said lately about the Quebec-Miami highway, surprising progress is being made along the line, particularly the C adian section, and long before this time next year the route will be in first class shape, thoroughly posted with signs, and used by motorists from all over the world touring right into Miami over good hard roads.

As a result of information given by Mr. Douglass, and the developments since that time, information is just received that the Goodrich company is sign-posting the entire route from Quebec to Miami.

N. M. Parrott of Baltimore, who is secretary of the Quebec-Miami International highway, has written Mr. Douglas giving a copy of a letter received by Mr. Parrott from the B. F. Goodrich company of Akron, O., in which is said:

We are sending you a copy of the January Goodrich, which shows the Goodrich company, and which includes practically all of your Quebec Miami highway. One of our trucks is now in Florida, sign-posting the main lines of travel, and will cover the route between Savannah and Jacksonville within the next month."

This truck, which the company states, is now in Florida, will come down the East Coast highway to Miami, posting road signs all the way, the convenience of which will be

As to the activity in road building along the Canadian end of the highway, the following extract from the Montreal Herald will be read with interest here:

"No one read with more interest than the automobile owners of the Province of Quebec the government announcement that the municipalities are to be assisted to make loans aggregating $10,000,000 for the construction of a series of regional highways, which will place Quebec in the lead of the provinces of the

"The announcement made last year that the government intended to build a macadamized highway from Montreal to Rousse's Point was good news, and the motorists have been waiting anxiously for its completion.

"That there is also to be a system of roads extending all over the province, however, was glad tidings indeed, which should find their

"The province is ready for the venture. The opposition has been complaining that the government, with all its talk about better roads, has done very little. True, they say, certain sections of road in different part of the province have been put into repair, and some very good sections are to be found. They found

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY
A FLEET CAPTURED BY CAVALRY.

By A. W. MACY.
In 1794, when France was arrayed in arms against the rest of Europe, the Dutch fleet became ice-bound in the Zuyder Zee, which forms the harbor of Amsterdam. A body of French cavalry under General Pichegru surrounded it, and galloping across the ice, furiously attacked the great ships and captured them. Had the Dutch commanders been as smart as Napoleon the result might have been otherwise. At one time when he saw his adversaries posted on a frozen lake he brought his artillery to bear and shot the ice from under them, letting them into the water.

WITHIN SIGHT OF MILLIONS

Easy Fortune Seekers Almost Get Century Old Treasure, When Weather Discourages Them.

New York.—With more than a million pounds sterling in gold and silver bullion in sight, which treasure was part of the cargo of the British frigate Lutina, when that vessel foundered off Terschelling, in the Zuyder Zee, in 1793, the salvage steamer Lynx was compelled a few weeks ago to return to Amsterdam because of bad weather. This was the statement made by C. H. Miller, second officer of the Lynx, who is at the Broadway Central hotel on his way to Philadelphia to visit relatives.

"We discovered the wrecked frigate in about four fathoms of water last July," said Mr. Miller, "and we at once began to pump out the sand that covered the bulk. We pumped out a large amount of sand before we were able to get at the interior. We located the bullion, which lies beneath a mass of cannon balls, and which have been welded together by the chemical action of sea water. We dynamited much of this mass and the pumps sucked up many silver and gold coins, proving that the vessel was the Lutina. Bad weather forced us to give up salvage operations, but we will renew work about March 1."

The National Salvage association of London was formed some time ago, with the duke of Teck and Lord Dunraven as stockholders, to attempt the recovery of the treasure contained in the Lutina.

SHOT BY QUEER WEAPON

Weapon for Palm of Hand Discovered in Auto After Man Is Wounded.

New York.—Through the accidental shooting of a machinist, the police came into possession of a peculiar spring gun, evidently made to be carried in the palm of the hand. George Burnett, of 702 E. 138th street, was repairing the side door of an automobile in a garage at 304 W. 49th street, when he was shot in the right hand. He was taken to the Flower Hospital.

Employees of the garage were mystified, as it was not apparent just how Burnett had been shot. After a search they found the weapon, in a pocket of the door. It was like a bottle. The neck could be unscrewed, and when this was done an exploded cartridge, and also a full cartridge, were found in the single chamber. By holding the weapon in the palm of the hand, springs could be pressed. The weapon is about five inches long. It does not bear the maker's name.

TO TEACH COUNTRY PASTORS

Course for the Poorly Equipped Will Be Offered at University of Missouri.

Columbia, Mo.—A course designed especially for poorly equipped country pastors will be offered at the University of Missouri next summer. Instead of theology, however, instruction will be given in agricultural and economic conditions in rural communities, rural sociology and other points regarding the life of farmers.

The new course is a result of a suggestion made to Dean Charters of the department of education by Rev. Warren H. Wilson of New York city, superintendent of the department of church and country life in the Presbyterian church.

Instruction will be offered to preachers of Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa, the church paying a large part of the expenses of forty or fifty preachers who desire to study.

WOMAN RUNS TOWN JAIL

Claims Distinction of Being Only Feminine Prison Keeper in America.

Boston.—In a little frame house in East Greenwich, R. I., separated by a narrow passage from the grim bars and strong masonry of the Kent county jail, lives Mrs. Evelyn Smith, America's one and only woman jailer.

Mrs. Smith is just completing her thirtieth year in her present official capacity, and the sixty-fifth year that the office has remained undisputed in her family.

"In all the years that I have officially been jailer," said Mrs. Smith, "I never have had any trouble. I lock and unlock the cells myself and no indignity ever has been offered me."

"There have been many attempts to escape, but only once was an attempt successful. Three young men got away for three days and then were rearrested."

FIND LOG UNDER GROUND

Farmer Encounters Walnut 350 Feet Below Surface—Was on Lake That Covered Kansas.

Topeka, Kan.—A walnut log in a fine state of preservation has been found 350 feet under the surface of the ground on a farm in McPherson county. C. W. Bachelor, a farmer, was drilling a well when the log was encountered. The tree, more than a foot in diameter, is supposed to have grown on the banks of the big lake that once covered central Kansas.

The only part of this lake remaining is the basin west of McPherson. The tree was not fossilized, but was just as natural wood as if it had fallen recently. It must have taken thousands of years, local scientists say, for the 350 feet of soil, sand and shale to accumulate above the log.

MAKES EX-WIFE AN EMPLOYEE

After Divorce, Woman Is Housekeeper, Then Sues Former Husband for $200 Wages.

Duluth, Minn.—Two hundred dollars as wages for ten months' service as housekeeper is what Mrs. Jacob Stuber asks the court to compel her former husband to give her. Mrs. Stuber got a divorce and $50 a month alimony. Then, according to her complaint, her ex-husband hired her as housekeeper at $30 a month. She says Stuber refuses to pay her.

DEMOCRAT FROM ARIZONA IMPORTANT

IN VIEW OF CIRCUMSTANCES

HOUSE MAY ELECT EXECUTIVE

IF THIS CONDITION ARISES THE ONE DEMOCRAT FROM WESTERN STATE WILL TIE UP THE LOWER HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The admission of Arizona to the Union and the election of a democratic member of the house of representatives from that newest of states, may have a political significance which will be of far-reaching effect upon the next presidency, and a great deal more than is concerned with the three electoral votes which Arizona will cast in the electoral college.

The advantage will be one which, if the occasion arises, will accrue to the democrats. The circumstances and the importance of the admission of Arizona and the election of one lone democrat from there are peculiar in view of the confused political situation at the present time, and the talk which is heard now and then of the organization of a third party movement.

Should President Taft be renominated by the republican national convention and should the so-called progressives withdraw and name Colonel Roosevelt, as is entirely within the range of possibilities, there would be in the field three candidates who could, beyond any doubt, secure each a certain number of votes in the electoral college.

Should not one of these candidates—democratic, regular republican or progressive—have a majority of all the votes in the electoral college the election of a president would therefore, under the constitution devolve upon the house of representatives.

At the present time and without the representation of Arizona in the house, the republicans would have a majority in the house upon the question of the election of a president, notwithstanding the fact that the actual democratic majority in the house is in the neighborhood of 70. The constitution provides that, when the election of a president devolves upon the house of representatives, as it has once already in our history, when John Quincy Adams was chosen, the states shall vote as individual units—that is, each state, no matter what its numerical representation is, the house may be, shall have but one vote. Thus New York, with 39 members of the house, would have no more voice in the election of a president under the circumstances than would Nevada with a single representative, or any of the other states having only one member of the house.

It is a singular coincidence that, despite the large democratic majority, the republicans at the present time control more state delegations than do the democrats. With Arizona, whose representative has not yet arrived in Washington, there are 22 states controlled by the republicans, 21 by the democrats, and four are equally divided—Maine with two democrats and two republicans, Nebraska with three democrats and three republicans; Rhode Island, with one democrat and one republican, and New Mexico with one democrat and one republican. These states therefore, would exercise no influence were the election of the president to be thrown into the house of representatives. Should the republicans be able to unite they could thus elect the president, and the big actual democratic majority would be powerless.

This singular condition of affairs arises from the fact that most of the smaller states, those with only one or two representatives, have "solid" republican delegations, while the states with large delegations are for the most part controlled by the democrats. Delaware, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming are each represented by one member in the house and in each instance the member is a republican. New Hampshire, Vermont, South Dakota, North Dakota and Oregon are each represented by two members, in each instance republicans. Washington has three representatives, all of whom are republicans. Thus there are twelve states with a combined representation only of nineteen members which would cast twelve votes in the house of representatives in case the election of a president were to devolve upon that body, as against one cast by the state of New York with thirty-seven members, of whom twenty-two are democrats. Nineteen republicans would, under such circumstances cast twelve times as many votes as twenty-two democrats.

The importance of one lone democrat from Arizona thus becomes apparent. His vote will give the democrats one more state delegation and make the two political parties equally divided in the house as to state delegations.

While the admission of Arizona would not enable the democrats to elect the president, it would at least tie the score and prevent the republicans from controlling. Just what would occur under such a situation, with the house of representatives equally divided as to control of state delegations on the question of the election of a president, is something which the constitutional lawyers are unable to say. There would be a deadlock, and one which it would be extremely difficult to break. It is thought not improbable that the tie-up would continue, and that it might be necessary for the presidential succession law to be placed in operation for the first time.

Then there would arise the question as to whether the incoming house at the forthcoming elections in November, could so proceed to the election of a president, provided there was such a change in the control of state delegations as to enable one party or the other to have a clear-out majority. There are some ardent politicians who say that such a situation may arise. They declare it is entirely within the realm of possibility because of the chance that there may be a third candidate in the field at the coming election, which would most likely throw the election of the next president upon the house of representatives. The democrats may thus have saved a great deal by carrying the first election in Arizona.

Live Telegraph Poles.

In Nevada the telegraph poles to damp, low-lying situations have taken root and flourished. They are of cottonwood, and planted with the bark upon them. In some parts of Java, too, a native tree is used for the poles, and this also takes root, thereby resisting the attacks of the white ants or the inroads of natural decay.

A Way People Have

"Did you ever notice," said the observing girl, "that when people are married their duty to their relatives seems instantly, while every one's duty to them is immediately increased ten fold?"

"I can't say that I ever did," answered the placid girl, who accepted the world as she finds it. "But what made you think of it just now?"

"Oh, I met Bertha Stone today. You know she had been planning on this summer vacation for a whole year to carry out a special project. When I asked her about it she told me that just as she was ready to go her sister's children were both taken sick and she devoted the entire two weeks to helping care for them."

"I suppose she thought it was her duty," interposed the placid girl, gently.

"But when Bertha was sick last winter it was no one's duty to take care of her and she had to go to the hospital," argued the observing girl. "The worst of the present case is that as soon as the children were well her sister left them in care of an aunt while she went to the country for a rest and Bertha came back to the office all tired out to work another year."

"That was hard," agreed the placid girl, sympathetically.

"Then there was Doris Thompson, who kept house for her brother Jack. It was dreadfully hard for Doris to work downtown all day and take care of the flat, too. But she insisted that both she and Jack needed a home, although we all knew she did it more for Jack's sake than her own. When Jack was married she fully expected to make her home with them, but they gave her to understand that married people were much better off by themselves. However, they suddenly changed their minds when the twins arrived, and then it immediately became Doris' duty to live with them."

"I remember how sorry we all felt for Mrs. Robinson when Alice married. She was the only child and had been her mother's constant companion. They had always declared they would never be separated, but that when Alice married she would live with them in the big house. But she wedded a poor man and decided in favor of love in a cottage. Her mother and father declared she was quite right and fought down their loneliness as best they could. But when she had three children to take care of and could not afford a maid Alice came to the conclusion that it was a shame for mother to be alone in that big house, and accordingly moved her family over."

"There also was Aunt Janet Long, who brought up a family of nieces and nephews. Not because she was able to do so financially, but because she had no husband or children all the relatives considered it her duty to do so and she, poor weak soul, gave up her life to the task. Now they're all married and, of course, could not think of having their home invaded by an old maid aunt who has ways, so she lives alone. But whenever there are sick headaches, extra work or babies Aunt Janet is sent for post haste and never fails to respond."

"You remember that spoiled girl, Nellie Mayne, who in all her life never thought of doing an unselfish act for anyone. Because she was pretty and insisted on being petted and having her own way she always had the best of everything at home and her brothers and sisters all had to give up to her. They expected great things of her and were heartbroken when she ran away and married a good-for-nothing young scamp who had nothing to recommend him but a handsome face. Now they have allowed themselves the luxury of a large family of babies that they cannot support, and it becomes everyone's imperative duty to help them out."

"Of course," pursued the observing girl, "I am fully aware that married people are much better off by themselves. At the same time it seems a bit one-sided and rather unfair to their relatives to let it be known that since they have each other everyone else is an outsider and must expect nothing from them, but as soon as they need assistance their people must fall over one another to be the first on the spot."

"What is to be done about it?" the placid one inquired.

"Nothing at all," and the observing girl dismissed the subject with a shrug.

"PIGS IS PIGS" HIS QUEST

Professor Seeking a True Guinea Type to Settle All Doubts.

New York—Word was received here by New York zoologists that Prof. William E. Castle was doing very well in his quest for a pair of ancestral guinea pigs amid the peaks of Peru.

Professor Castle is from Harvard university, and several weeks ago he departed from this port on his search in the interest of science. Experiments are being conducted in Schermerhorn Hall, in Columbia university, at Cold Spring Harbor, to determine variations which occur in accordance with the laws of heredity. The records concern the guinea pig birth rate quite intimately. It has been asserted that the American breed are no longer guinea pigs at all. That is why the professor has gone to the mountains of Peru to bring back a consignment of guinea pigs which are supposed to be of the true type. Meanwhile science must wait.

As everybody knows, guinea pigs, even of the ancestral type, are Guinea pigs, and Guinea pigs are not pigs, but are rabbits. Hence, the pigs are not pigs and never were.

It is a long trip from the mountains of Peru to Sandy Hook and Professor Castle, starting with only one pair of guinea pigs of the ancestral type, is likely to arrive here with so many specimens that he will not be able to distinguish the ancestors from posterity. If the steamship should be delayed his troubles would be increased.

At any rate, scientists in this city and in Boston are awaiting with interest the result of his mission. They are inclined to believe that the guinea pig race has undergone such modifications here that it has become widely different from the primitive creatures. But they want to see for themselves.

SHARED FOOD WITH BIRDS

Newsboy's Object Lesson Wasted on Hotel Lounge as Watch Act From Window.

Kansas City, Mo.—In front of the Hotel Baltimore a newsboy shivered on a cold morning recently. One hand was busy making frequent trips to his mouth with a large "hamburger," from which he was taking hungry sated bites.

"Poor little rat. He must be nearly frozen," a traveling man remarked as he sat in a large leather chair looking out upon the snow and ice.

Just then some snow birds lighted a few feet away. They hopped about as if half frozen. The newsboy tossed them a piece of his sandwich. They pecked at it eagerly. Then he tossed the remainder down and watched the birds peck at it so eagerly.

No. The traveling man didn't go out and give the newsboy a dollar or buy him a new overcoat. He lighted another cigar.

"I'd like to do something for that lad," he remarked. "But it's just too cold to move."

BOY FOILS JEWEL ROBBERS

Six-Year-Old Willie Ader Ran to Aid Mother Being Throttled.

New York—Two men, who attempted to rob a jewelry store at 3490 Broadway, were arraigned in the Harlem police court. They gave their names as George Brodie, twenty-two, a chauffeur, of 364 W. One Hundred and Eleventh street, and Martin Joyce, a clerk, of 1349 Eighth avenue. Both were identified by Mrs. Sarah Ader, wife of Samuel Ader, proprietor of the store. A third man, for whom the police are searching, escaped.

Only the quick wit of William, the six-year-old son of the Aders, prevented the robbery. As one of the thieves grappled with the mother in an attempt to choke her, the boy ran to a safe which contained $300 in cash, threw the door shut and turned the combination.

BELIEVES HE HAS RABIES

New Yorker Is In Fordham Hospital With a Strange Delusion—Quiet Will Restore Victim.

New York—George Hammel, an expressman, is in Fordham hospital suffering from pseudo rabies, a psychosis which induces in the one afflicted the delusion that he is suffering from rabies. Physicians say that after several days of absolute quiet Hammel will recover. The man recently read a great deal about cases of hydrophobia and worried over the fact that he had been bitten by a dog a month ago. Before he was removed to the hospital he insisted on remaining on his knees under the sofa barking and lapping water out of a pan.

LOCKED UP BY HIS OWN WIFE

Author-Lawyer of Boston Tells Court He Is Compelled to Hide From Spouse.

Boston—S. Arthur Bent, of Boston, has filed a bill in equity in the superior court against his wife, Mrs. Mary H. Bent, seeking to recover securities worth $110,000, which he claims he was forced into transferring to his wife by threats while they were in Europe in 1909. Since then, Bent alleges, he has been treated with great indignity and even locked in a room and has been obliged to hide from his wife. Bent is a lawyer and author of several books.

Truth Repeated.

"No man is truly great," says a philosopher, "unless he is able to convince his neighbors that he is." That may be true. Anyway, a man's neighbors are the last to discover that he is great.

PEOPLE WHO BOUGHT SOAP NOW WAITING FOR SHIPMENT

A fellow representing himself to be an agent of the Armour-Swift Soap company of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, did quite a business in the outskirts of this city, at Ormond, Holly Hill and other nearby places about three weeks ago and now the people who ordered soap (and paid for it) are wondering if they are ever going to receive it. One of the householders received a letter, without date, stating that a slight fire in the warehouse had delayed shipment. This he thinks was merely to keep him quiet while the agent extended his operations. The fellow was very liberal with his samples of toilet soaps. As he worked only the edges of the city, it is thought by some that he is the same man who took cash orders for rubber stamps from a number of Daytona's business men about three weeks or more ago, and they have yet to see the stamps.

ONLY FOUR DAYS LEFT TO QUALIFY FOR PRIMARY.

Strenuous efforts are being made to have all democrats pay their poll taxes before next Saturday, the final day on which poll taxes may be paid for voters to qualify for the first primary, April 30. The law requires all poll taxes to be paid by the second Saturday in the month preceding the primary, and there is absolutely no deviation from this rule. Any voter who does not comply with the law in this particular will not be permitted to vote in the primary next month.

BIG SESSION OF ELKS WILL BE HELD TONIGHT

The regular meeting of the Dayton lodge of Elks, which will be held this evening, will be an important one as the annual election of officers will be held at this session. Following the lodge session there will be a social session, to which the members have been invited to bring their wives, sisters and daughters, and a number of interesting stunts have been arranged for the entertainment of the members and their guests. A large number of visiting Elks is expected to be present.

They Don't Grow Old. There is a law in Germany that when a dog or cat has passed the age of six years they must be turned over to the police to be killed. Not a dozen animals are turned over a year. No matter how old a cat or dog become the owner vows that the age is five years to a day.

Kansas Schoolgirl's Choice of Ways. One day last week two little girls in Parsons were hurrying to school and were afraid they would be tardy. One little girl said: "Let's kneel right down and pray that we won't be tardy." "Oh, no," said the other, "let's hike on to school and pray while we're hikin'."—Parsons Sun.

MOTHERS' DAY SHOULD BE OBSERVED BY ALL.

To call attention to the fact that Sunday, May 12, is Mothers' day and that the spirit of the day should be observed by every body, Go. Gilchrist has issued the following proclamation:

I, Albert W. Gilchrist, Governor of the State of Florida, do hereby designate and proclaim Sunday, May 12, 1912, as Mothers' day and recommend that it be observed in all homes and in all churches by the people of this state.

In three years' time Mothers' day has become a national as well as an international day. Last year it was celebrated in every state of the Union, in Porto Rico, Hawaii, Canada, Mexico, South America, Africa, China and Japan. It will soon be recognized by every nation of the world.

On that day everyone should show some special thoughtfulness for his mother if living, or to her memory if she be dead. It is recommended that on that day each one wear a white flower, or the flower which pleased her most.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State of Florida, at Tallahassee, the capital, this 29th day of February, A. D. 1912.

ALBERT W. GILCHRIST, Governor.
By the Governor, Attest:
H. CLAY CRAWFORD, Secretary of State.

Pay Your Poll Tax Before March 9

Fla., 1912

D. P. SMITH, Tax Collector
New Smyrna, Florida.

Dear Sir:—Enclosed find _____ Dollars for which please send receipt for my poll tax for the year _____ and _____. I enclose two-cent stamp for return of receipt.

Very truly yours,

Cut out above coupon, sign it, enclose amount due and send to Tax Collector at once.

NOTE—In order to participate in the democratic primaries every elector will have had to qualify himself by paying his poll tax for the two years past due (1910 and 1911) on or before Saturday, March 9th. This tax must be paid in person or by letter transmission by the party owing it. The law forbids the Tax Collector from accepting poll tax payments from a second party. You must pay your own poll tax. If you have not paid this tax for the two years past due, then you should send to the tax collector two dollars for 1910 and 1911. If you have paid 1910 and not 1911 then you are due one dollar, for 1911.

WEDNESDAY

AFTERNOON AND EVENING

Mrs. M. M. Cox went down to Melbourne Beach Monday afternoon for a three or four weeks' visit with her sister-in-law, Mrs. E. L. Lee, who will come to Daytona with her on her return.

Geo. F. Crouch, chairman of the county school board, and W. D. Bradshaw, county commissioner, were Deland visitors Monday and Tuesday of this week, attending the regular monthly meetings of those boards.

Mrs. James Dart of Roxbury, N. Y., and her niece, Miss Bertha Matthews, of Shokan, N. Y., arrived in the city Monday evening for a several weeks' visit with Mrs. Dart's sister, Mrs. M. E. Silverman, at her home on Magnolia avenue.

There will be a special meeting of the Halifax River Yacht club tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to discuss the matter of dredging the canal from the channel to the new city dock, as some boats have had difficulty in getting in to the dock. There have been many more large boats here this winter than ever before and it is important that the channel be made adequate to accommodate them with as little trouble as possible in making a landing.

J. Fitch Walker returned home Sunday from Moravia, N. Y., and re-joined his family at his winter home on Second avenue. Mr. Walker went north about three weeks ago and experienced quite a change in temperature, leaving here with the mercury at 70 degrees and meeting a temperature of 15 degrees below zero on his arrival at Moravia, with a drop of four more degrees the following day. He tells some great stories of railroad conditions in that section of New York about that time, including snow blockades and trains actually frozen to the rails until dug out.

Mr. and Mrs. John Becker and daughter of Brooklyn, N. Y., friends of John Kelle and family, also of Brooklyn, who have a winter home on Second avenue, are in the city for a time, having arrived last week from Fort Myers.

Doctors G. A. Klock and Roy Howe were called to Ormond Thursday of last week to attend a complicated confinement case, when Mrs. J. R. Davis of that town gave birth to a girl baby. Both mother and child are getting along all right.

The closed season for game went into effect the first of this month with the exception of ducks and the season for them will close April 1. Only 15 hunting licenses have been issued at this place probably from the fact that there is nothing in it for the person handling the licenses, except the work.

Students of the Daytona high school were entertained for half an hour at the opening session Monday morning by Prof. Henry Oidys, who lectured to them for that length of time in the school auditorium. Prof. Oidys, who was introduced by George N. Chamberlin of Magnolia avenue, spoke to the students on bird life and during his talk gave many delightful imitations of various bird songs and calls.

been conducting what was really a campaign of education, inducing municipalities in different sections of the country to take up this important matter, so they might see what is possible when one goes about the business of making roads scientifically.

"Many municipalities tried the experiment. The sections of road they built with the assistance of the government are shining examples of what other municipalities may do, and have literally 'paved the way' for the introduction of the present big scheme.

"The indifference of the county, township and village councils to the need for exertion in this direction was proverbial in Quebec. The government had first to wake them up to the needs and the possibilities of good road making before they could hope to introduce a project of the magnitude of that proposed with any hope of success.

ANNUAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT IS TO BEGIN NEXT MONDAY

ANNUAL FEATURE OF THE SEASON AT THE DESPLAND HOTEL WILL BE STARTED FIRST OF NEXT WEEK.

The annual tennis tournament at the Despland hotel, always one of the features of the season at this popular hostelry, will begin next Monday, March 11, and continue until all of the events have been played off.

The Despland tennis tournament is always an attraction for the guests of the big hotel and many of the cottagers, and advance inquiries indicate the entry list this season will be larger than it has ever been in previous years. The games will be played on the tennis court of the hotel.

The entry list will close at noon next Saturday and up to that time entries may be made by telephone to Mr. Waite, or by personally entering names on the lists in the hotel office. Entrance is complimentary.

The events this year will include an open tournament for ladies singles and an open tournament for mixed doubles. Cups will be given to the winners of these events.
